

Newspapers Cover NPS Study

Local coverage of the NPS study on the possibility of a Manhattan Project National Historical Park at Los Alamos, NM, Oak Ridge, TN, Hanford, WA, and Dayton, OH, after the jump. Public meetings will be held at each site in late January and early February. More information on the study can be found here.

If you'd like a story from your local paper to be included on our website, please send it to chollander@atomicheritage.org.

STORIES

"Challenge Is Planned After Hanford Nuclear Site Is Excluded From Park," Associated Press, January 9, 2010. PDF version.

Annette Cary, "Hanford backers want B reactor in national park," Tri-City Herald, January 6, 2010. PDF version.

Phil Parker, "How Would Park Work?" Albuquerque Journal, December 29, 2009. The article may also be viewed as a PDF and as it originally appeared in print.

"Historic Park A Fine Idea," Albuquerque Journal North, December 30, 2009. PDF version.

D. Ray Smith, "A National Historic Park in Oak Ridge? " The Oak Ridger, December 29, 2009. PDF version.

Bill Wilcox, "OR Deserves to have National Manhattan Project Park ," The Oak Ridger, December 21, 2009. PDF version.

Annette Cary, "Study dismisses Hanford B Reactor for national park ," Tri-City Herald, December 11, 2009. PDF version.

